The Story of Café 2001

It all began in the summer of 1973, when Rupe and Nancy, along with a few family members, opened a small spot called "Acuario." The business was a huge success throughout the summer season. However, after a heavy rainstorm at the end of February, the tourists left Villarrica, and they were forced to close. Even so, the dream never faded, and Rupe and Nancy couldn't stop thinking about the future.

They were determined to reopen their restaurant in the exact same spot where it all started. Rupe and Nancy patiently waited for five years until they finally secured the location, transforming their original idea into a much bigger dream.

On October 15th, 1978, they officially opened the doors of Café 2001, starting humbly with just four tables.

Before long, four tables weren't enough. Since then, Café 2001 has continued to grow. Alongside its incredible team, it has kept welcoming every guest with the same warmth and quality that made it so beloved in the first place. Why "2001"?

Rupe and Nancy wanted a unique name—not a conventional one, and certainly not "Acuario" again, as this new project deserved a fresh and extraordinary identity.

One day, while chatting about the year 2000, they laughed and thought: "It feels so far away... We'll be so old by then!"

They loved the way "2001" sounded, realizing:

"That way, we can be part of the new century!"

And just like that, Café 2001 was born.

We are deeply grateful to all our customers who have helped us grow over the years and continue to be a part of the Café 2001 story.
